COLONEL'S COMING DISTURBS MARKET

Practically No Sales Yesterday on Account of Celebration.

WALL STREET CHEERFUL

With Railroad Bill Out of Way, Greater Stability Is Expected.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
New York, June 18.—Interruption of business by the Roosevelt reception resulted in practically no market for stocks in Wall Street to-day. What little trading was done sent prices slightly higher. The net changes were so small as to mean nothing. The bank statement was favorable, but had been fully discounted. The important items were not materially changed either in the average or the actual statement. Money is so cheap that it can have no influence on stocks at present. Suit of the government against the towing trust on the Lakes and a warning against hard times by James J. Hill attracted but little attenton. The technical condition of the stock market is such that with the passage of the railroad bill a further advance is looked for as a matter of course. Some very unpleasant things are coming to light, but the recent break has discounted most of them.

Bright Dresms.

Wall Street most of the week glowed resulted in practically no market for West Grace Street, Woodland Heights deals and Washington Ward sales they sold something more than $30,000 worth of property the past week, and that seems to be pretty good for a new and very young firm.

In the Suburbs.

Of course, the bad weather knocked out business in the suburbs, that is to a great extent, but it is mighty hard to down the average dealer in suburban realty or to cut off his eloquence when he wants to talk about the suburbs.

For instance, President Funsten says about Ginter Park:
There is great activity in the building line in Ginter Park:
A contract has just been awarded by Mrs. Ellen C. Baverley for the erection of a home on Chamberlayne Avenue, J. E. Nickell has started a home on Hawthorn Avenue. The residences of C. S. Fensom, W. C. Graham, Fritz Will and others are making rapid progress. More than a dozen residences are now under construction on Seminary, Chamberlayne and Hawthorn Avenues. The bad weather during the past week or more has retarded building, etc., but with a few good days rapid progress will be made in all departments of work that is going on in this suburb.

President and General Manager.

of work that is going burb.

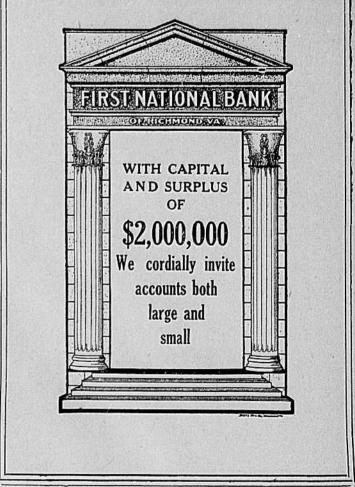

President and General Manager Grover, of the Woodland Heights Company, says:

"The rains of the week seriously interfered with Woodland Heights sales, as it was almost impossible to show prospective buyers over the ground. Contractors who are building the many new houses in this territory was forced in most cases, to abandon contractors who are building the many new houses in this territory were forced, in most cases, to abandon all work.

"The company reports the sale of two lots on Twenty-depth Street, near Bellevue, and many inquiries from interested clients."
